Hardships of war—battleships.
Galleons of trouble may come out of a pint glass.

Poets are born, not made—and the birth rate isn't high.

To err is human, to forgive may be a brand of diplomacy.

About the only satisfactory substitute for wisdom is silence.

A man of spirit doesn't necessarily carry a pocket flask.

Adam was created before Eve, yet Eve was the first maid.

An honest man is indeed a good thing—for his creditors.

What most people need is an occasional dose of anti-talking.

After a woman has told a third of a story men can guess the rest.

Laugh and your pa laughs with you; cry and you cry with na.

Some people try to raise the wind by blowing about their prospects.

The man who attempts to serve two masters is liable to arrive for bigamy.

There is a much better market for good mules than there is for bad men.

The German government is forcing all its children into infantary corps.

Highballs have laid many a man low, both in and out of the baseball game.

We always like to quote threatening Scripture when it applies to the other chap.

Somehow a man who doesn't know right from wrong never always goes wrong.

Knit for the soldiers and the world knits with you; darn and you darn alone.

After a man has been married two weeks he can understand why love is blind.

The trouble with most of the advice is that it has generally been offered at the wrong time.

A man can insist that wealth is a burden and yet break his back holding on to his share.

In these days of enterprise it is better to get room on the ground floor than at the top.

There are 26 bones in the human body unless a man is a bonhead, and then there are 27.

British Columbia is hung up by the seat of the pants waiting for Ottawa to take off the hook.

A converted cruiser would just as soon man and drown a lot of the enemy as any other kind.

Not all drummers beat drums—some beat the hotel men and business houses to a double four flush.

The sort of a girl that a man leaves home for is the sort that a man should stay home with after he gets her.

You don't have to set a trap to catch a cold in Claresholm. Haug around any one of the bank corners, the drafts are sure to come days.

Our idea of an optimist is a man who hopes for the best, prepares for the worst, and swallows the dose fate ladies out to him with cheerful grin.

"Editor Review—If all the brides are as beautiful as you would have us believe, where do all the lonely married women come from?" Can anybody help us out.

Diplomacy is the art of saying something that you don't mean to somebody who doesn't believe it.

Our idea of a hustler is a man who works as fast all day as he can dress in a cold room in the morning.

A parallel is two lines that can never meet unless they are bent—for some purpose political or otherwise.

A lot of men who get it every day from their wives have never enough to tell you that they do not believe in Hell.

Before he gets her he would kiss the ground she walks on. After he gets her he doesn't want to use the same towel she dried her face on.

It's right to be an editor if you never tell the truth, but by kerry, tell the truth and you need to be a footcure or a puglist.

A Claresholm mother saves the very shape of a child is conclusive proof that the Lord intended it to be spanked on certain occasions.

If some Claresholm men could read their own biography it would probably surprise him more than anyone else. It is surprising how usually mean some men are.

This is going to be a tough season for the Men's Misour Club. The skirts are so wide that the girls can climb on a street car without showing the tops of their stockings.

An author is a person who uses paper to catch the drip when his brain leaks. When you observe a person scratching their upper torso and otherwise digging in, you know the leak is not very large.

Don't be alarmed if a child takes to writing poetry at the age of seven. Parents can either encourage or discourage the child at that time. There is always a possibility of living it down, but after that, well, I shan't say.

One charitable act will occasionally cause a man to put himself on the back for many months. Last week a man helped his neighbor out to the extent of a loaf of bread and then told what a charitable fellow he was.

A man suggested to the Review to day that we give a life subscription to this great family journal to each soldier who will enlist hereafter. No, decidedly no, we've got it in for no man who is going out to fight his country's cause.

A dollar bill may carry to its receiver the vilest infection. It is a sponge that takes up filth and disease germs from every hand through which it passes and from everybody with whom it comes in contact. We hope our delinquent subscribers are not holding back their dollar bills for fear they may carry some contagious disease to us. If they are, we assure them we are safe, having had the mumps, whooping cough, measles, scarlet fever, small pox and a variety of other diseases. So, bring along your dollar bills and we will give you a nice clean receipt for them.

Our old friend Dr. Cook announces that he is going to climb Mount Everest, the world's highest peak, this summer. It has been regarded as unscalable up to the present. Judging by the ease with which he was able to put his North Pole story on some people, with corresponding large pay-off receipts, it hardly seems worth the doctor's while making a serious attempt to reach the top. What's the use of actually doing it so long as you can persuade a sufficiently large public that you have done it—Edmonton Journal.

When Woman Most Wishes to be a Man

is when her husband lights one of our Clgars, for if women did smoke, these would be their first choice. Their piquancy, bouquet and rich lucious odor appeal to anyone who knows a sweet, mild smoke. The qualities are fully appreciated by the best judges of fine tobacco and you will have tobacco very far and wide for a line of cigars that is superior to ours.

WE WANT THE NEWS

We want all the news that is fit to print—real estate, transfer, business changes, accidents, births, marriages and deaths, wedding announcements, church and society news, in fact any event of general public interest has always a new value and it will be appreciated by the publisher of the Review as well as the readers. Write on one side of the paper only, enclose in an unsealed envelope mark "Printers' Copy" on outside, attach a one cent stamp and drop in the post office box as soon after the occurrence as possible. In all cases sign name of writer, not for publication but as evidence of good faith. Also if not already a subscriber show your loyalty to your own town by leaving your subscription. We have not time to make a personal canvass for news or subscriptions but if either is sent to us it will be highly appreciated.

LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO REST

When Mark Twain, in his early days, was editor of a Missouri paper, a superstitious subscriber wrote him saying that he had found a spider in his paper and asking him whether that was a sign of good or bad luck. The humorist wrote him this answer, and printed it.

"Oh Subscriber—Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which direction it was blowing in, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and live a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

"ROD AND GUN" FOR JUNE

"The Glittering Lead" is the title given by Bonycastle Dale to a story of before-the-season fishing in the opening pages of June Rod and Gun which is published at Woodstock, Ont. by W. J. Taylor Limited. "Honest Weight" is an amusing tale of two rival fishermen as related by one of the French Canadian guides who accompanied them on their outing after "the big game." "Three Swedes there were" is also a humorous story relating the experiences of a "vulgar, rambling trio" showing how everything turns out to those without a purpose. "Sport in and around the Rocky Mountains," "Care-free Days in Newfoundland," etc., and the regular departments which latter are full of interest to the fisherman and gunner, make up a very interesting early summer issue.

TRIBUTE TO COTTON.

Henry W. Grady's glowing eulogy upon the wonderful plant.

"What a royal plant it is! The world waits in attendance on its growth. The showers that fall whispering on its leaves are heard around the earth. The sun that shines upon it is tempered by the prayers of all the people. The frosts that chill it and the dews that descend from the stars are noted, and the trespass of a little worm upon its green leaf means more to England and to English homes than the advance of Russian army upon her Asian frontier. It is cold from the time it puts forth its tiniest shoot. Its foliage decides the summer earth in emerald shaven. Its blossoms reflect the brilliant hues of summer skies in southern climes and put to shame the loveliest rose, and when losing its snowy beauty to the sun it dons a banner that glories the field of the humble farmer."

"Its fibers are current in every bank in all the world. Its oil adds luster to lordly banquets in noble halls and brings comfort to lonely homes in every clime. Its four gives to man a food rich in health producing value than any the earth has ever known, and a cure for every long sought and found in nothing else. Its meal is feed for every beast that brows to do man's labor from Norway's frozen peaks to Africa's parched plains."

It is a certainty that God gave to this people when he reached the skies, established our dominion, girded us about with oceans, tempered the sun and measured the rain—our policy was adopted on the occasion of our children's forefathers—no and no princelier talent ever came from his omnipotent hand to mortal stewardship."

Fleeing Holland.
Holland's safety to some of war lies in her ability to food great tract of land. William of Orange flooded the country in 1574 and by so doing drove out the Spanish invaders. The same policy was adopted on the occasion of the French invasion of 1912. The movement of a lever of American is sufficient to open every dike and dam in Holland simultaneously. It is said, to put under water within the space of a few hours the whole country from Nardoon, on the Zuyder Zee, by Utrecht to Groningen, at the mouth of the Meuse—ARGENT.

THE GOLDEN EGG AND THE GOOSE

Old Fable Applies to "Made-in-Canada" —How Merchants "Rise Stand in Their Own Light."

The following statement has been circulated in connection with the "Made-in-Canada" movement, and is full of the attention not only of merchants but also of the average consumer who often sends his money away from his own towns and outside of Canada when he could spend it just as advantageously in his own town for goods "Made-in-Canada."

"The Goose That Lays the Golden Eggs"

Don't kill her! Don't do anything that will lessen her laying power! On the contrary, feed her and nourish her so that you'll get more eggs from her! She needs your help and your good-will. Did it ever occur to you that, out of every dollar's worth of Canadian-made goods you buy, about 50 cents goes to the Canadian workman living in some Canadian town or city, and enables him to buy about 50 cents worth more goods from his tradesman? Did it ever occur to you that, out of every dollar's worth of foreign-made goods you sell, about 76 cents or more disappears from Canada forever, and the buying capacity of the Canadian workman is correspondingly reduced. The same that should be in his pocket have been paid to the foreign workman.

In 1913, over $950,000,000 of Canadian money was spent for foreign goods. Think of it—six hundred and ninety-two million! Half of these goods could have been made in Canada, and Canadian workmen and Canadian retailers would then have been $475,000,000 to $475,000,000 better off than they are to-day.

Let us remember that of every $20,000,000 per day is being sent out! You can help to stop some of it and, moreover, you owe it to your self and your own business to do all you can to check this drain on the country's resources. So, decide now to help feed the goose! Decide now to increase the sale of Canadian-made goods! Decide now to keep more money in Canada.

A NEW IMPETUS

United States Firms Looking to Canada For Branch Factories/Again

During the past couple of years the movement of American industries to Canada and the establishment of branch factories in the Dominion has been so rapid that it is almost impossible to keep track of it. The movement is being accelerated again, and according to the Boston "Daily Transcript," at March 20, the "Made-in-Canada" campaign is responsible. After referring to the fact that the "Made-in-Canada" campaign is taking business from American firms, which are now compelled to plan branches in the Dominion, the Record quoted G. W. Curtis, agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who has just made a trip to the United States, and reports that the "Made-in-Canada" movement had caused a considerable falling off in the business which the United States had hitherto done in Canada. The new war tariff of 74 per cent also served to keep out American goods.

As a result of these two factors, Mr. Curtis has received many inquiries from American manufacturers who are planning to establish branch factories in Canada so that they may not be driven by the "Made-in-Canada" movement, instead of losing by it as is now the case with their factories on the United States side of the line.

This uncanceled testimony from United States to the effectiveness of the "Made-in-Canada" movement, which has swept over the Dominion during the past few months, affords abundant evidence of the value of the publicity methods adopted. That the "Made-in-Canada" movement will either strengthen in the next few months if it is going to result in an increase in the number of industries in Canada will be the wish of all those who have a knowledge of the employment situation in the Dominion. Not only will new branches of American factories in Canada increase employment for Canadian mechanics, but the building and equipment of these factories will tend to revive building trade and create activity in many industries subsidiary to the building trade.

Pain in the Side, Chest, or Back Aching Muscles Cured Quickly

Even Doctors Marvel at the Penetrating Power of Good Old "Nerviline"

Pain anywhere—in the chest, groin, side, back, or muscles—they are always a discomfort.

If the inflammation is severe, the pain will be intense. If allowed to continue, complications will follow.

Physicians say one of the best remedies is "Nerviline." It can be used in any form, and it penetrates through the pores, carrying healing properties that destroy every symptom of pain.

In case of colds, sore chest and pleurisy, users should be a good hand rubbing with Nerviline, and, of course, to prevent the trouble coming back, it's advisable to use a Nerviline Plaster.

Plaster, which, by absorption through the skin, draws out the inflammation. For general household use, for curing rheumatism, aches, pains, and sprains, for destroying all pain, outward or inward, nothing can excel Nerviline.

For nearly forty years Nerviline has been recommended and truly cures thousands of hours where practically no other remedy could be used.

Nerviline is safe to use. For children, it is the best remedy for all ailments. It can be used with more certain results than any other remedy.

Get the large, 50 cent family size bottle today. It is, also, economical than the 25 cent trial size, and is sure to keep down the doctor's bill and cure a host of minor ills that arise in every household.

All dealers sell Nerviline, or direct from the Claresholm Co., Kingston, Canada.

Boom Expected After the War

Reasons For Believing That Great Britain Will Benefit From War

There has been a prediction that in England there will be no unemployment, as an exchange of goods between the war, the Bank of England has nearly $100,000,000 on deposit, which is more than twice the value of the average. All the other great banks have been reduced to a small fraction of their former strength. The Bank of England, however, has not only kept its position, but it has increased its assets. It has been able to do this because of the most reliable and brings but 2 1/2 per cent interest on its deposits.

In the United States much the same state of affairs exists, and the reserves of the Federal Reserve Bank, in excess of the local requirements under the Federal Reserve Bank, and the ease of money throughout the Anglo-American world is a phenomenon which nearly always precedes an expansion of business.

It is nevertheless a paradoxical fact that the price of liquid capital should be larger than ever before at a time when all the great nations of Europe are borrowing such huge amounts and are, in fact, maintaining armies that are increasing the power of the world. The paradox is explained by the fact that the world is in a state of economic depression, and the price of capital is high. The world is in a state of economic depression, and the price of capital is high. The world is in a state of economic depression, and the price of capital is high.

Cultivation Few Sows That Are Not Benefited by Deep Cultivation

On many farms, the depth of the cultivated soil is frequently limited to six or seven inches. The soil is turned over by the plow, and the hard surface of the subsoil remains undisturbed. Consequently, the soil is not in a proper position, and it is not in a position to receive the full benefit of the rain. The soil is not in a position to receive the full benefit of the rain. The soil is not in a position to receive the full benefit of the rain.

Thankful For Ignorance

Of a certain bishop the following anecdote is told.

While presiding over a conference a student began a lecture on the value of ignorance, expressing the opinion that he had never been educated by any university, and that he was a fool.

After proceeding for a few minutes the bishop interrupted him and said:

"I understand that Mr. X is thankful for his ignorance?"

"Well, yes," said the student, "but I don't know what you mean."

"I mean," said the bishop, "that you are thankful for the fact that you are a fool."

War's Effect on Farming

Farming was looking up before the war, but that great event has done far more than merely accelerate the progress of the industry. It has brought within the comprehension of the world, to whom the land question was formerly a matter of indifference, the fact that the world is a vast storehouse of food. The impression was created that the world was a vast storehouse of food. The impression was created that the world was a vast storehouse of food.

HEAR SOME OF THE REASONS WHY THE GERMAN IS HATED IN ENGLAND

HATRED OF ENGLAND NOT OF RECENT GROWTH

The German Government not Being Successful in its Campaign of Slander and Defamation of the Allies, is Using Every Means to Develop a Feeling of Hatred for England

The hatred against England with which Germany is trying to cause the most interesting examples on record of Masses suggestion. It is not a new phenomenon. It is almost wholly unchangeable. The feelings of an elderly politician like Professor Otto Meyer are characteristic of the Anglo-phobia of the German intellectuals as Herr Zuppelmann unceremoniously humors a hymn of praise to the redoubtable Hitler.

The seeds of this hatred—under Huss gegen England, as the newspapers usually call it—were planted by the German government knowing that these seeds lay dormant, or rather, to be accurate, had already grown to quite a respectable bush. It is one thing to dole out and nurture this poison to the people who become the obsession of thirty million souls. The German government has not been able to do this in its congenial labor of information and slander since the outbreak of the war, therefore, and admit that its endeavor to create a feeling of hatred against the British in Germany has been successful.

It would be a mistake to suppose that this hatred of England in Germany is of recent growth. It does not, it is true, date from the outbreak of the war, though in the days of Bismarck, England was not so much hated in Germany, much as she was in most other continental countries. However, a feature of the German Volksgenossenschaft movement, appearing during the past twenty years, is a state of race naturally checks the frank expression of the feelings of the people—this is the case in Germany, much as she was in most other continental countries. However, a feature of the German Volksgenossenschaft movement, appearing during the past twenty years, is a state of race naturally checks the frank expression of the feelings of the people—this is the case in Germany, much as she was in most other continental countries.

Hatred of England in Germany is not a new thing. I first went to Germany as a school teacher in 1904, and I have remained in Germany ever since. The deepest impression I have received of my first contact with German life was the feeling of the German school in the little province of Prussia, where I was a teacher. The feeling was that the German school was a place where the German people were taught to hate England. The feeling was that the German school was a place where the German people were taught to hate England.

Those were the days when the acquisition of Kiao-Chow by the German government was a matter of course.

LOYALTY TO CANADA AND HER WORKSHOPS

Women Shoppers Can do Most For
"Made-in-Canada" When They Are Making Purchases

The editor of the "Department Store Magazine," a United States publication, has a strong article on the "Made-in-America" movement, which is a feature of United States commercial life today. Speaking of the place that women occupy in the nation's purchasing, he says:

"Upon the great mass of intelligent American women, who daily stream through the doors of our forty-five hundred department stores, rests a heavy weight of responsibility. It is for them to say whether some of the greatest industries in the country shall suffer or whether they shall come through the crisis stronger and more prosperous than ever."

"America can make everything that is necessary to the life and happiness of any man or woman. The most luxurious and beautiful fabrics can be produced here. Our carpets and rugs imitate the weaving of the Oriental weaver and often surpass a work in originality of pattern. The furniture made in America is unsurpassed, and our glass and china compare favorably with the finest importations."

The remaining three paragraphs are taken from Mr. Platt's article but in each case we have substituted the word "Canada" for "America," as there is no doubt that what Mr. Platt says about the goods made in United States applies equally as well to those made in Canada. In fact there is an even greater reason why "Canada" should be loyal to the products of her own workshops and her own work shops. Canada is a young country in the early stages of industrial development. It has a small population spread thinly over a large area. Unless all interests in Canada combine to promote the general progress, progress is sure to be much slower than we have been accustomed to during the future years of reconstruction which will inevitably follow the war.

Revised Version
"Made in Canada" should be the motto of every shopper who enters a store. It is more than a mere trade slogan; it is a precept of patriotism. "Made in Canada" means busy factories in Canada. It means happy working people in Canada; it means fat pay envelopes in thousands of Canadian homes on Saturday night; it means the banishment of the burlesque of hard times and the return of prosperity for all of us and desire for war. And after the war is over it means a greater Canada that will supply the world and reap the reward of a higher patriotism than that which is being voiced by European nations."

All this can be accomplished if every purchaser who enters a store will choose Canadian made goods. The great merchants are eager to meet this demand, and it is up to the shopper to see that the good things made in Canada do not lie idle on the shelves.

OUR BUSINESS INSTINCT

It's Good For Canada to Buy Canadian Goods

In a democracy like Canada manufacturers and consumers meet on a common level. Each looks to the other to do his part in this Made-in-Canada campaign. We need no paternal government to advise us. We need no ten commercial commandments as they have in Germany. This is a land of liberty. We think and speak as we like in loyalty to our own commercial interest. If we don't recognize that buying things made in this country is good for our pockets, our homes or our businesses, we naturally buy things made somewhere else. It is because we are finding out for ourselves without any paternal commandment from the supreme bureau, that it pays in every way to buy Canadian goods; that we are entering a campaign to do it. The German delegate treats German consumers like a pack of children. The business sense of the average liberty-loving Canadian demands to be treated like a full-grown man. We don't need to be told that it's good for Canada that we buy goods made by Canadians. We know that; the same as we know that fresh air and good food are beneficial to the health. We don't even call it patriotism. It's just ordinary everyday, selfish business instinct.

It is practical patriotism to give the preference to goods "Made in Canada," and it is practical selfishness as well. Your money stays in Canada—lives up Canadian trade generally—and so helps to create a prosperity in which you share.

FIXED IT IN THE DEED.

A Real Estate Agent's Kindness to One of His Customers.

J. Cooper Troup, formerly a real estate agent in Eaton, Ind., a few years ago had practically concluded a sale of a residence in that town to a farmer who desired to retire, when the customer suddenly discovered that there was no cellar beneath the dwelling. The house suited him perfectly, and his wife also was highly pleased with it, but both of them demanded a cellar before taking it, even though they previously had agreed on it as far as to tell Mr. Troup to draw up the deed.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do," said Troup. "Of course there's no cellar under there now, but I'll fix it in the deed—write it all out and everything, so there can't be any mistake—so that you have the privilege of excavating for the cellar at any time you please and without interference from any source."

Mr. and Mrs. Farmer said they "blessed" that would be all right, so after their right to construct their own cellar had been carefully safeguarded in the deed by elaborate phrases they paid over the money and took possession. But to this day Troup says he looks at him in a dazed and puzzled way every time they meet him—La Joliet News.

OLD TIME HARVARD LAYS.

When Students Had to Get the President's Permission to Smoke.

Imagining a twentieth century Harvard undergraduate asking the president of the university for permission to smoke or buy a drink, yet a person was necessary in the eighteenth century, according to the history of Harvard before 1750. One college rule read:

No scholar shall take tobacco unless permitted by the president, and he consent of his parents or guardians and on good reason first given by a physician and then in a sober and fit person."

Further, "No scholar shall unnecessarily frequent any tavern or victualing house in Cambridge or eat or drink there without leave from the president or one of his tutors."

Another regulation read: "If any scholar be guilty of drunkenness he shall be fined 5 shillings and make a public confession. No undergraduate shall keep by him any distilled spirituous liquors, nor shall he use any such drinks as punch or flip."

Saturday evenings all students were required to retire to their chambers at sunset and not unnecessarily leave them—New York World.

The Chief Justice.

"There are very few people who know the proper designation of the man who presides over the supreme court," said the secretary of the senate. "Generally he is referred to as the chief justice of the United States supreme court. In fact, he is the justice." That is his official title. Most of our presidents in nominating men for this office have fallen into the error of giving him the long title. When George Washington nominated Oliver Ellsworth of Connecticut for this post he described it as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States. Andrew Jackson made the same mistake in nominating Roger B. Taney. So did Abraham Lincoln when he appointed Salmon P. Chase. Grover Cleveland was the first president to give the correct designation. When he appointed Melville W. Fuller he nominated him to be chief justice and nothing else—Washington Star.

Size of an Atom.

"Radiation emanations," said Professor William Crookes in a lecture in London, "are due to the breaking down of the atom of radium, and electricians are constantly flying off with about two-thirds the speed of light (182,000 miles per second). These electrons are now looked upon as being absolute units of negative electricity. To try to illustrate their size is difficult. Imagine one drop of water magnified to the size of the earth (8,000 miles in diameter). An atom would then be about the size of a walnut or a cricket ball. The electron would be about the size of this dot (.)—one one-hundredth of an inch in diameter. The mind cannot conceive such figures."

Pass It Along.

Few of us have been so exceptionally unfortunate as not to find, in our own age, some experienced friend who has helped us by previous counsel never to be forgotten. We cannot render it in kind; but, perhaps, in the fullness of time it may become our solemn duty to aid another as we ourselves have been aided and to transmit to him our invaluable treasure.—Philip Gilbert Janerson.

Potion and Pact.

"Charlie got his ideas of married life from the comic papers."

"Well?"

"He says after he got married he was awfully surprised to find that his wife could get a satisfactory hat for $5.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

An Unlucky Ring.

Cynthia—Once upon a fellow who give a girl an engagement ring of gold. Silken—Gracious! Wasn't it lovely? Cynthia—Yes but it was. She married him.—Judge.

Succors is sweet: the sweeter if long delayed and attained through manifold straits and dangers.—A. Bruce Alcott.
